Ipswich Children Christmas Card Competition closes Friday

This week is the last chance for kindy, prep and primary school students in years 1-3 in the Ipswich electorate to get their entries in for Rachel Nolan's annual Christmas card competition.

The competition is open to kindy, prep and students in years 1-3, attending programs in the Ipswich electorate.

It's theme is "What does Christmas in Ipswich look like for your family?" The winners will have their entry displayed on Ms Nolan's calendar which will be distributed over Christmas to every household in the Ipswich electorate. They will also receive a $50 voucher from ArtTime.

"Christmas in Ipswich is a great celebration of family, of childhood and, for many families, of the Christian faith. Already beautiful entries are flooding in and I can't wait to see more." Ms Nolan said

Entries in Rachel Nolan's Christmas card competition must be in her office on Friday 7 November 2008.
